

HOW TO ETHICALLY ENGAGE & SUPPORT YOUNG PEOPLE IN OUR CHANGING SOCIETY

WEDNESDAY 15 JUNE 2022, 10AM-2PM

Shellharbour Civic Centre, 76 Cygnet Avenue, Shellharbour City Centre

$25 members, $75 non members

BOOK
NOW!

Limited Places

Experienced Youth Work Practitioners Sam & Megan, will provide you with an opportunity to explore current youth work theory & practice using case studies from your work place & the experience of the facilitators. You will also be able to explore your own practice to ensure you stay energised and enthused.

The Workshop will cover:

- Unpack case studies to reflect on your actions and explore and implement best practice in your own work.
- Develop a strong support network of fellow Youth Practitioners.
- Explore your self-care practices to ensure you stay ahead of the game.
- Explore Youth Work Code of Ethics and how it relates to how you support young people

Session Trainers

Megan Lee

Megan is an experienced Youth specialist with over 20 years of experience working with Young People, their families, and communities. Megan holds a Bachelor of Youth Work and has completed post-graduate studies in positive psychology, counseling, and mental health & wellbeing.

Sam Kettlewell

Sam has almost 20 years industry experience in a wide range of context in both government and non- government organisations working with young people.

Her practice framework aligns with trauma informed practice, evidence-based programming and development, and ethical principles and practice. Sam holds a Bachelor of Youth Work, Counselling, Diploma of Community Management and has been teaching at TAFE for the last 9 years within the health and wellbeing faculty. She is the director of Change the Cycle, where she holds a clinical supervision qualification where she supports and works with other youth practitioners to instil best practice self-care methods to combat vicarious trauma when working in the sector and to enhance their reflective frameworks. Sam is passionate about enhancing Youth workers skills, insight and knowledge and advocating for the practice of youth work, she is a current executive member of Youth Work NSW, the first professional association for youth workers in NSW.